

RDGC Scholarship Application Form

Rye Driftwood Garden Club has established scholarships in areas related to horticulture, conservation and ecology education. Scholarships are awarded, as appropriate, to Seacoast individuals or organizations. The purpose of the scholarship is to aid advancement in these areas of study to a qualified individual or organization. Past scholarships have helped fund Seacoast area individuals and organizations in subjects such as horticulture technology and genetics, plant camps, horticulture research and biodiversity education. Scholarship results (photos, description, etc.) should be sent in a timely manner to RDGC.

To begin the application process, submit this form to:

Donations Committee, RDGC
Box 33, Rye, NH 03870

Applications are due by November 1, 2020.

Name: _____ (organization or individual)

Mailing Address: _____

Telephone: _____ Email: _____

Description: Attach a statement explaining why you are requesting the scholarship. Please be as detailed as possible. Include such information as:

- For both organizations and individuals: How will you use the award to advance your scholarship in horticultural/conservation/environmental studies?
- What is your time frame for receiving the award?
- For individuals applying for scholarships: Do you have any experience in horticultural/conservation/ environmental studies? Briefly describe. If not, why are you interested in this type of study? What do you intend to do with it?
- For individuals, what is your current GPA?
- For individuals and organizations: How would a scholarship help you continue horticultural/conservation/environmental study in the future?
- Please include three personal recommendations (individuals) or feedback (organizations) that might assist us in determining your qualification for this award.

For more information, please visit the Rye Driftwood Garden Club website at:

www.ryehgardenclub.org

